Your views are important to us!

They enable us to disseminate reliable information, provide appropriate support and adequately represent our stakeholders' opinions to government. We do this by holding Stakeholder Events twice yearly.

The Dyslexia-SpLD Trust

Our work with stakeholders, partners, key allies and expert advisors.

What we do:

- ✓ Advise and liaise directly with government.
- ✓ Inform, advise and signpost parents, teachers and local authorities about training, interventions and research.
- ✓ Bring together those organisations committed to improving the lives of dyslexic individuals.
- ✓ Support organisations to upscale and roll out examples of best practice that improve outcomes for children and young people with dyslexia.
- ✓ Input into the wider SEN arena via project work and consultations.

Why is our work important?

- ✓ We offer a central platform for the government and stakeholders to engage with around dyslexia and specific learning difficulties.
- ✓ We improve choice for parents, teachers and local authorities by having a wide ranging knowledge.
- ✓ We provide reliable information by working with experts in the field.
- ✓ Add value to specialist services by having an overview of the wider SEN picture through our engagement with the Autism Education Trust (AET), The Communications Trust (TCT) and our strategic partner.
